STOCK NOTES.

No live stock is better sale than colts from draught sires and good native mares.

Arizona now contains about 600,000 cattle and horses. Cattle are listed for taxation at $15.50 per head.

Colorado has this year sent out its largest wool clip. The yield was something like a million pounds in excess of any prior year.

The pricing record to saddle has not been reached in eighteen years. Billy

Byce made 2:14 1/2 at Buffalo in 1886 and that still leads.

Probably the largest herd of pure bred H. refords in the world is the Brookmont herd, at Olathe, Iowa, which is said to number over 700 head of pedigreed cattle.

Many new and heavy cattle owners are looking at the country in eastern

Yavapai and western Apache counties with a view of purchasing and early stocking that section.—Local County

Record

Summer Arizona will have a good many thousands head of fat beef cattle to export this fall. The probability is that the larger portion of them will go to the Kansas City market.—S. W.

Stockman.

Purchasers of horses for use in the army claim that owing to the fact that heavy draft horse breeding is absorbing so much interest in this country, the class of horses they are obliged to procure is growing scarcer every year.

Bent County, Colorado, is in a bid for Texas drivers have driven from 35,000 to 100,000 head of cattle into that region and not finding a sale for them are turning them loose on the range.

There are two classes of stock cat-tles sellers just now—those who are compelled to sell, and those who have no better sense. We are sorry for the former and disgusted with the latter.—San Antonio, (Texas) Stockman.

There's a good deal in the papers now about sending dressed beef from Texas to England," observed Mrs.

Stagg. "Yes, I noticed it," answered her husband listlessly. "Well, now, I think that's real merciful to the animals this cold weather. But what kind of clothes do they put on them?"

The shrinkage in washed wool in scouring, in the clip of 1886 is placed at one-half; in the unwashed wools of

New Mexico, West Virginia and Kentucky, it is put at 40 per cent; in Maine, 30 per cent; in twelve states the shrinkage in unwashed is estimated at the same as in washed wools.

The average shrinkage of the country's clip in scouring is about 45 per cent.—Chicago Wool Grower.

The breeding of Standard ponies is attracting the attention of western stockmen. They are hardy as burros and as quick as horses, being good foragers, and are more profitable to breed than either cattle or horses.

They are hardy and with better prices. No section of the United States is better adapted for raising these attractive little animals than Arizona, and we hope to see some of our breeders give them a trial.—Silver

Blitz.

Dwarf cattle are the noblest type of the bovine family, and this, too, in several respects. They are the most distinctly marked of all cattle, in peculiar manifest points—color, uniform all red; horns branching, and are all alike. They are the handsomest cattle of the whole family, are most docile, and are by far the best of all working oxen. Taken at all points—milk
